

Friendship is our biggest treasure !!!

It was spring, the sun was shining and a pleasant breeze was blowing - the ideal weather for a walk. Maggie and Anna decided to go for a stroll. Those two friends always had many topics to discuss: new boys at school, recipes for delicious cookies or the newest trends in fashion. The girls stopped gossiping when they saw two boys approaching them. Adam and Tom were very handsome boys from the senior class. They invited the girls to play hide and seek with them. At first, the girls did not want to go because they thought that the boys wanted to play the prank on them but in the end they said yes. While hiding behind a big pointy trunk Maggie stumbled and fell. "Everything must have muddled up in my head because of this fall," thought Maggie. She saw, before her very own eyes, a huge entrance to the cave from which something was glowing. It was not glowing, it was beaming with hundreds of colours. "Come on, come here," the girl shouted. "I hope I am not crazy and they will see the same light as me," Maggie thought. Children ran to her as fast as they could and, not believing their eyes, they saw a creature which looked like a dwarf and an elf at the same time.

"My name is Figgy ."

"I do not believe my eyes," said Tom.

"Believe it, you and your friends," Figgy answered confidently. "Are you also looking for a treasure in my cave?" Figgy continued.

"What treasure?????" children shouted in chorus.

"I will lead you to the real treasure. Follow me."

Children went into the cave which appeared not as beautiful as in the beginning. There were a lot of spider webs and flying bats. Girls trembled and boys bravely strode behind Figgy.

"Why are you taking us here?" Maggie asked in fright. "There is no treasure here!"

"We will pass the spider's family, then we will meet the mice and we are in the right spot."

Children followed the creature but they became tired and scared. Suddenly they realized that they were alone, their guide disappeared. "What will happen now? We want to go home!" girls cried. There was no Figgy, the colourful light was further and further. Luckily children found a rock where they could take a rest and think how to get out of the cave. After a while children noticed that they were not sitting on a rock but on a chest.

"Maybe this is a magic chest and there is a treasure in it," said Adam.

Suddenly it became brighter and the chest started to glow.

"Key! Where is the key?! We need the key!" children screamed.

The key was lying by the chest. They put it in the keyhole. When they opened the chest they saw...
